Public Roundtable on Proposed Rules of the Environmental Protection Agency Scheduled for December 6

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is currently considering changes in several administrative rules related to industrial activities and the regulation of air, water, and soil pollutants. Because some of the contemplated rules may affect the operation of electric generation facilities serving Montana and the interests of public utilities and their customers in the state, the Public Service Commission will host a roundtable to hear directly from EPA and state regulatory officials about the proposed rule changes and to provide a forum for public comment.

I encourage all interested businesses, organizations, and individuals to attend the roundtable and to voice their thoughts about the EPA rule proposals.

Please see the attached notice for details on the roundtable. If you plan on participating in the roundtable, we would appreciate receiving a note of confirmation from you in advance of the meeting so that we can organize the event to be as productive and efficient as possible.

On behalf of the entire Commission, I thank you for your interest.

What: Public roundtable on proposed EPA rules
When: 2:00 p.m., Tuesday, December 6, 2011
Where: Bollinger Room, Montana Public Service Commission
1701 Prospect Avenue, Helena

Inquiries about the roundtable may be addressed to Bob Decker, a staff assistant to the Commission, at 406-444-7627 or bdecker@mt.gov.
